

Facilitating Successful Transitions for Youth and Young Adults with Brain Injury:

A CTAT Tele-training

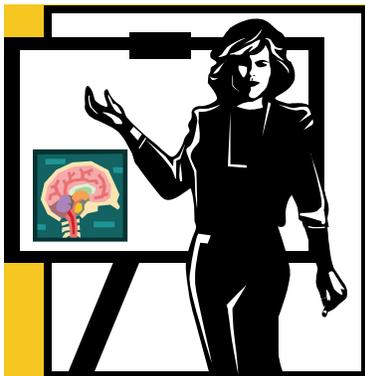

January 15, 2008

12:00pm-1:30pm

Transitions for youth with BI are pivotal and require careful planning to ensure success. These transitions start at the time of injury and go on into the world of adulthood. Participants of this session will gain insight into aspects of BI that make transitions challenging and strategies for ensuring successful transitions for students with BI. In addition, participants will be exposed to resources available to young adults with BI as they enter the world of work and independent life.

YOUR TRAINER

Karen McAvoy, Psy.D.

Karen has a BA from the University of Washington in Physiological Psychology. She received her Psy.D. from the University of Denver in Pediatric Psychology in 1987. Karen did an internship at Children's Hospital, Denver, and a post-doctoral fellowship at Farren Memorial Hospital in Massachusetts. After completing all her training, she worked for 2 years at Children's Hospital in Seattle, Washington, in the departments of Psychiatry, Rehabilitation Medicine and Adolescent Medicine. Missing the sunniness of Colorado, she returned to Denver, Colorado, where she has been at Children's Hospital off and on (Rehabilitation Medicine and Oncology) but primarily at Cherry Creek School District for the past 18 years. Karen has practiced School Psychology in all three levels, elementary, middle and high school for 18 years, coordinating the Traumatic Brain Injury Team for the District for the past 12 years. She has completed 2 TBI Brain Injury Trust Fund grants allowing Cherry Creek School District to mentor and train the 2 neighboring school districts resulting in the development of TBI Teams in both of those districts. In June of 2007, she completed the clinical piece of a 3 year grant with Children's Hospital Dept. of Rehab. studying the effects of concussion in the adolescent athlete. In July of 2007, Karen finally left the setting of being frontline in a school and has taken over the position of Coordinator of Mental Health Services, Psychology Team Leader for Cherry Creek Schools.
